

Play Time: Art In The Park

4 — 7
July 2012

The London 2012 Olympic Park is home to the most ambitious art commissioning programme of any Olympic park to date. We would like to invite you to take part in a programme of walks, studio visits, screenings and talks in venues around the Park, meet some of the commissioned artists and become involved in a discussion about the cultural programme for the future Queen Elizabeth Olympic Park.

This programme has been organised by the London Legacy Development Corporation to raise awareness of the forthcoming Development Corporation Arts and Culture Strategy

Studio visits with artist DJ Simpson

DJ Simpson is one of thirty-nine artists commissioned to make artworks for, around and about the Park. Come and meet DJ in his studio, which is located a stones-throw from the Park. This is a unique opportunity to hear from a widely respected British artist about the development of a significant artwork and view early sketches.

Studio visit and film screening with artist Keith Wilson

The renowned British artist Keith Wilson has created the playful crayon-shaped sculptures that line the course of the Waterworks River in the Park. The thirty-five brightly coloured pillars, collectively titled 'Steles', will serve as mooring posts for boats along with waterway.

Keith will be hosting a talk and film-screening at his studio in Hackney where you can find out more about his extensive practice, his commission and the changing face of east London.

Mapping Your Manor walks

Life on the edge of the Park has changed considerably for the residents and businesses that inhabit this part of London. Join artist Lucy Harrison for a tailor-made walk through sections of this unique, rapidly changing industrial, rural and residential landscape.

All walks include a free ice cream, refreshments and a Mapping Your Manor book. Please email jes@jesfernie.com for more details including where to meet.

4 & 7 July, 14:00 – 15:30

'Fun Palace' workshops with Caroline Bird

Renowned poet Caroline Bird's poem 'Fun Palace' is one of five poems that have been commissioned for the Park.

Caroline will be holding two workshops which explore the ideas raised in her poem and re-imagine Joan Littlewood's fantastic ambition to create a 'laboratory of fun' in east London in the 1960s. You will be able to install your work in the beautiful garden and alleyway around the Nunnery in Bow, adjacent to the Park.

Memory Marathon: two years on

In 2010 artist Simon Pope walked a 26 mile route round the Park talking to local people about their memories of past Olympic and Paralympic Games. The resulting film Memory Marathon is a poignant celebration of the enduring importance of personal memories. For this evening's event, Simon will show clips of the film and talk about this complex and challenging undertaking and reflect on its position three weeks before the London 2012 Olympic and Paralympic Games begin. How to make a Cinema Float

UP Projects' Floating Cinema was one of the big hits of 2011 and will return in the summer of 2013 to navigate the waterways around the Park.

For this event, Floating Cinema artists Nina Pope and Karen Guthrie will show their fantastically engaging film Barging Through London and give a talk about plans for Floating Cinema 2013. This will be a great opportunity to meet the artists and get a sneak preview of their 2013 programme entitled Extra-Ordinary. You will also get a preview of the White Building, which will officially open later in July.

Floating Cinema 2013 is sponsored by Bloomberg and commissioned by The Legacy List.
